

CURSE HIM

Wm. Griffin's Exciting Scene With His Wife's Lover.

Henry Geiselhard Calls on the Prisoner at the Four Courts.

Griffin Expresses a Desire to Get At Him Through the Bars.

Geiselhard Makes a Statement in Which He Endeavors to Throw the Whole Blame on the Woman and Says That He Is an Innocent Dupe—Griffin's Release—Meeting With His Wife.

Henry Geiselhard, the man whom Wm. F. Griffin accuses of being the cause of all his troubles with his wife, called at the Four Courts this morning to see Griffin. He was given a permit to talk to the prisoner through the screened door opening into the calaboose from the corridor. It is almost impossible to recognize an inmate of the prison through the screen and Mr. Griffin had to ask who his visitor was.

"I am Geiselhard," was the answer, "and I came to make an explanation." "I want no explanation from you," said Griffin, "and it is a good thing for you that these bars are between us."

"I came to tell you," continued Geiselhard, "that I did not write that note to your wife, and have not seen her since last Thursday."

"You're a liar!" cried Griffin. "You're a d-d liar, and a scoundrel and a loafer," his voice getting louder as he spoke.

"But I'm not," insisted Geiselhard quietly. In the same tone he had used from the start, and Mr. Griffin had to ask who his visitor was.

THE NOONAN PUNISHMENT TO DIE VERY HARD.

THE FRIENDS OF STONE AND GIBSON GETTING Ready to Enliven the Preliminary Contest—Candidate O'Meara Declares That He Is Neutral—Noonan Leaders Getting Even—General Political News.

THE action of the Democratic City Central Committee calling simultaneous primaries for the election of delegates to the Sedalia, St. Louis, Hannibal and Jefferson City Conventions for Wednesday, April 7, insured some lively political roll-rolling in the city.

THE candidates who expect St. Louis' support are expected to do some active canvassing, and Dick Dalton, one of the gubernatorial candidates, is now on the ground doing more work, he claims, than he was on his Hall County farm.

THE decided and Noonan turn taken by the Central Committee is generally accepted as a death-blow to the combination the Noonan "push" made to give the city delegate to candidate W. J. Stone for Governor and Col. Chas. H. Jones for delegate-at-large to the National Convention.

THE St. Louis men now realize that some of the hardest kind of work must be done within the next three weeks to give him a fair share of the city delegates in the field.

THE primaries will attract an unusual attention, principally on account of the decided departure from the old methods. The factional fight between the "push" and "pull" will also help to draw out a large vote.

RECORDED CARTRIDGE SAID TO-DAY THAT HE would also help to draw out a large vote.

THE air of buoyancy which is a serene confidence in political supremacy once prevailed the habits of the Private Secretary Brennan's office has disappeared.

NEAR THE DANGER LINE. The River is Steadily and Very Near High-Water Mark.

At noon to-day the river had risen to a point 26 feet above low water mark and within a few feet of the danger line. The water is still rising and reports of floods are beginning to come in. There is but a small strip of the wharf along the city from left dry and teamsters are beginning to experience difficulty in handling freight. Men are at work along the wharf pulling merchandise from the water's edge to a higher point.

The river, unusually unexpected at this time in the year, has already done damage in South St. Louis. From Meramec station westward the city is in a perilous position. The river is steadily rising and in some sections it is but a short distance from the iron mountain railway tracks. The Lyon Club Park, near the Work-house, is under water, and several flat-top houses are now standing on stilts in four or five feet of water. The river is steadily rising and in some sections it is but a short distance from the iron mountain railway tracks.

MARRIED AT 70.

Nuptials of Gen. Pierce, the Soldier and Historian.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 7.—At Freetown, Gen. E. W. Pierce, a well-known historian of 70 years and Ida Estelle Gardner, a school teacher, of East Greenwich, R. I., aged 27 have been married. The general made her acquaintance within a few weeks. He has only one arm, the other having been shot off in a battle before Richmond. A few days ago he was very seriously injured while trying to put out a fire on his premises, his arm particularly being burned severely. Yesterday was his birthday and he was married at the exact hour and in the room where he was born. The groom was weak and as he was leading the bride to the dining table, he fell in a faint and was lifted into bed. Gen. Pierce is one of the best known men in this section. He had written several books, takes particular pride in living on the homestead which has been handed down by ancestors whom he can trace back to the landing of the Pilgrims. The homestead was transferred to his wife as a wedding gift yesterday.

The Electropole.

Mr. A. R. Plank, Manager:
DEAR SIR—I give you, with great pleasure, my experience with the Electropole. I have used the Electropole myself for chronic rheumatism with good results, also on one of my church members for chills and malarial fever and after four treatments she was cured. Our daughter has been cured of toothache of the worst kind with a few minutes' use of the Electropole. Two of our children are now using it for nasal catarrh with great benefit and I am sure they will be cured in a short time. I heartily recommend the Electropole. Yours, R. F. Stevens,
Pastor First German Baptist Church,

THE STRICKEN FIELDS.

Another Member of the Family Before a Lunacy Court.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 7.—On Saturday morning next Judge William H. Robertson, as commissioner of the Lunacy Court, will sit in the county court room in this village to inquire into the lunacy of Alice Field, daughter of Cyrus W. Field, who has for a number of years been an inmate of Dr. Choate's sanitarium at Pleasantville, N. Y. Miss Field has been demented for several years but has never been adjudged insane by a court or a lunacy commission. The purpose of this inquiry is to establish the insanity of Miss Field, that a guardian can be appointed to appear for her in the surrogate's court when the will of her mother is admitted to probate. She is one of the beneficiaries of the will. A jury of twenty-four men will pass upon her sanity.

ENGLISH HORSES.

A Claim That They Are Superior to American Racers.

THE THOROUGHBREDS OF THIS COUNTRY
CRITICISED BY A BRITON.

Horses Arriving at the Fair Grounds—
Fred Johnston Will Probably Accept the Offer to Fight Dixon in America—
Racing, Base Ball and Sporting News of All Kinds.

There may be something about the turf of the United States which the American correspondent of the London Sportsman thinks well of, but it is so far from being mentioned in his letters that he is so far from being blind to the fact that the Englishman who does point out an actual evil which exists here is his argument loses its force. Here is the way he compares the thoroughbreds of the two countries, his comments being somewhat condensed:

A great deal of discussion has taken place about the respective merits of English and American horses. The question is one which can never be decided with the certainty of a mathematical problem. Upholders of American horses point to the successes of Ironsides, Foxhall and Parole, while those who know something of the 3-year-old form of 1881 are not so much disposed to attach great importance to these victories. While admitting the excellence of Foxhall and the good form of Ironsides and Parole, I am disposed to place their success to the credit of English breeding. While Foxhall was only grandeur by an English horse, the other two were sons of Leamington. Three-fourths of the best winners in the United States have English sires or dams, and at least that proportion of the stakes is won by them. With one exception, Longfellow, there is not an eminently successful American horse in the country. It is but just to say that Longfellow has produced more first-class horses than any other sire, although Prince Charlie would have distanced him had the latter lived to an ordinary age. In the present, it is said that the son of Blar Athol and Eastern Princess never produced anything but a winner in America, but he served only a limited number of mares for two seasons, and then died. Although a roarer himself, he did not produce roarers, and though doubtless that disease is transmitted under certain atmospheric conditions, it is not hereditary in the States, and it is very seldom contracted by a horse imported from England. With an imported English roarer, and I would expect his roaring to disappear after a short residence in the country. With a climate so well adapted to horses, and as fine a racing system as can be met with in the world, that she does not is tacitly admitted by the American breeders, who yearly purchase our stallions, and they are justified by results.

The inferiority of American horses is, in my opinion, attributable to three causes. Half, nay, I believe three-fourths, of the so-called thoroughbreds in America are half-breds. After the war, when the "American Stud" was the word, many of the best bloods of the world were imported. Now, a thoroughbred mare would be worth ten times as much as a half-bred, and consequently hundreds of mares were returned to the thoroughbred, who were in reality h. b. The stain is manifest in the general quality of the American-bred horses. Imported into the country, or whose parentage is English. Another cause of inferiority is the inferior system of training pursued in the States. Before being put to the stud, horses and mares are run off their legs, and their vitality, and consequently their creative powers are seriously affected. Moreover, while our sires are put to the stud at a comparatively early age, the rule in America is to run horses as long as any money can be made out of them in that way. The third cause to which the inferiority of American thoroughbreds is in my view attributable is the indiscriminate use of stallions. Almost any kind of a stallion is good enough to cover a thoroughbred mare, and Americans use sires which would be rejected by the worst of our breeders.

As regards the time test, used as a means of comparing the relative merits of English and American horses, no reliance whatever can be placed on it. The English horse is bred in conditions. Horses are not timed in the same way, nor are they run over the same courses as the few English horses who are occasionally timed. They are timed from the fall of the starter's flag, while in the States they are timed from the fall of the starter's flag. In the States tracks are harrowed and rolled so as to enable horses to make fast time, just as cinder paths are treated in the case of pedestrians. The tracks are also for the most part badly timed. The grass is much slower than a made track. Nevertheless, if the time shown is reported to have been made in the case of a horse, he did the two miles and a quarter several seconds faster than he actually did. One of the best carrying 100 lb. pounds in the whole country. I think that the superiority of English horses can be fully established.

HORSES ARRIVING HERE.

The Hong string of race horses has been removed from the East St. Louis Jockey Club course to the Fair Grounds. The St. Louis turfman has succeeded in disposing of all his baggage in these parts with the exception of twelve, who made up the outfit that was transferred. This lot with the string of eight which he brought from the East will make a total of twenty which are to carry his colors during the coming spring meeting at the Fair Grounds. The lot was made up of four horses and also quartered at the Fair Grounds. Among the lot are two promising 2-year-olds. J. J. Grand, trainer for Theodore Winters, exercised the cracks of that stable on the big track yesterday for the first time. The horses were moved at a two minute clip and more than realized expectations. The 2-year-old Rose Hickman especially showed up well. Cy, a son of Kyrie Day, one of the best looking horses at the track. This animal, a bay, is a grand looking colt, and will be a Pacific coast star next season, and will be watching. He defeated such cracks as Oregon, Eclipse and Geraldine at Helena last fall with 122 pounds up in a five furlong dash, making the distance in 1:11 flat. This was one of the most sensational performances on the turf last summer. Dave Waldo, the Kansas City turfman, has a promising 2-year-old, a bay, named "The Boy," one of them, Tobe Bell, is deserving of particular notice. He is a grand looking colt, and if appearances count for anything, ought to develop into an excellent race horse.

The Mesdames Clayton and the purchase of Moberly, Mo., who possess several likely looking fillets sired by the famous old English-bred horse, the American Trotting Register Association was the separation of the trotting and pacing standard. In the future the pacer and trotter will not be registered under the same provisions. This is the purpose of the pacer and trotter was big expected. While a compromise, it is also a measure to head off the "National Breeders' Register" in New York and the "New York Register" published in Cleveland. The trotting standard remains unchanged.

ALLERTON WILL TROT.

CHICAGO, April 7.—C. W. Williams of Independence, Mo., who is in the city, says he has reconsidered his determination not to trot Allerton at any place out of Independence, and he has accepted some of the big offers made for matches with Allerton at other points.

THE PACING STANDARD.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—The most important work done at the meeting of the American Trotting Register Association was the separation of the trotting and pacing standard. While a compromise, it is also a measure to head off the "National Breeders' Register" in New York and the "New York Register" published in Cleveland. The trotting standard remains unchanged.

TRACK TALK.

The 3-year-old filly Yo Tambien is not being pushed in her work on account of lameness. The trainers, horse owners and all hands at Gloucester are signing a request for Mr. Pettigrew to reconsider his idea of going to the Garfield Park Club.

Tula Blackburn, in the Hankins string, is said to be even better this season than last. She was a high-class mare then, and should prove a dangerous animal in the handicaps this season.

Billy C. and Sea King ran a match quarter of a mile race at the course across the river yesterday after the regular day's sport was over. The pair ran as a team for nearly the entire distance, Sea King winning by the shortest of noses in a bag.

The two best touted 2-year-olds of the West so far are J. M. Brown & Co.'s G. W. Johnson and Dick's Dactyl. Both are reported to be marvelous, and they may be, but it is usually observable that the much advertised horse is a failure.

The really good 2-year-olds usually come out unheralded and make their reputation by feats none can gainsay.

BASE BALL.

Secretary George Munson closed negotiations yesterday with the Joliet Club of the Illinois-Indiana League for their appearance in this city next Saturday and Sunday. This agreement is the strongest team in the State League, he claims, and if they play as well in this city as they are credited with doing last season when they captured the tri-state

A Mystery Explained.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of the two Stevens boys is cleared up. Bishop Gallagher of the Calvert school the boys have been attending telegraphed last night that the boys were Mrs. Stevens' wanted to go instead to his West Jackson street and arrived there safely. The boys were taken care of by the expressman who delivered their baggage foraging the number and the coincidence of his delivering the baggage to Mrs. Jackson, who also had two boys in a Southern school.

PROTECT OUR BREAD.

The machinery of the law has not been put to work too speedily against the fraudulent use of ammonia and alum in Baking Powders. Both health and the pocket of the people are demanding protection. The legislatures of New York, Illinois and Minnesota have taken this matter of adulteration up, and especially that of Baking Powders.

It will be in the interest of public health when their sale is made a misdemeanor in every State in the UNION, and the penalties of the law are rigidly enforced. There is no article of human food more wickedly adulterated than that of Baking Powder.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only pure cream of tartar powder having a general sale that is free from ammonia, alum or taint of any kind of impurity. It makes the sweetest and lightest bread, biscuit and cake that are perfectly digestible whether hot or cold. It costs more to manufacture Dr. Price's than any other baking powder. It is superior to every other known and the standard for forty years.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

ONLY SMALL INFORMAL RECEPTIONS GIVEN AND FEW OF THEM.

The Entertainment of the Monday Club the Present Week—Affairs Given by the Other Clubs—Next Week Will Be the Dullest of the Year—in Society's Realm.

The few entertainments which are now being given are of a small, informal character. Next week will be the last week of Lent, and after that the social gatherings will be resumed and continue until the warm weather sets in and people begin to leave for the watering places. IN NIGHT ROBES.

How Guests Escaped From a Fire at the Richelieu Hotel.

NOT MUCH DAMAGE, BUT LOTS OF EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY THE BLAZE.

The Fire Discovered by Private Watchman O'Brien and the Guests at Once Given Warning of Their Danger—Some of the Ladies Faint—One Woman With Presence of Mind.

At 4 o'clock this morning, as Night Watchman O'Brien of the Richelieu Hotel, Washington avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, started on his rounds to wake up those employees who slept in the hotel, he discovered, as he glanced out of a third-story window, flames bursting from under the roof of the northern side of the southwest wing of the building. That portion of the hotel structure is a separate wing, connecting with the Washington avenue building only at its eastern end, with a court running east and west between the two wings. It fronts on St. Charles street, and opens also on Fourteenth street, and in the days when the Washington avenue side was called the Windsor, and later the Bristol, it was known as the Bristol. It is four stories in height, and the fire was just above the topmost floor, and rapidly making its way downward.

As soon as Night Watchman O'Brien spied the flames he realized that a most dangerous fire, with possibilities of great tragedy, threatened the hotel. Last night there were ninety guests registered at the Richelieu, and among that number were thirty-five ladies and several children. There were also about thirty employees of the hotel, many of whom were females, who slept there. The hour at which the fire occurred was a particularly dangerous one, when most commendable coolness, Mr. J. W. Hall, the proprietor of the Richelieu, was absent in Springfield, Mo., where he also runs a hotel, and the night watchman began work on the top floor, nearest the flames.

Running from floor to floor, he knocked loudly at each, calling out as he did so: "Get up, the hotel's on fire! There's no danger, but get down as quick as you can!" In a moment the top floor of the Richelieu was in a tumult of excitement. Guests were springing from their beds with the suddenness of the alarm, and the women were being helped down by the men. The fire was spreading rapidly, and the night watchman began work on the top floor, nearest the flames.
